Title: Changed from loading to the pulled Pokemon name.
Images: 4 separate sprites are pulled for each random Pokemon.
Paragraph: A multitude of information about the chosen Pokemon is loaded into different areas of the page. This includes: the type(s), the height, the weight, and the base experience.

The information pulled is random every time the page is reloaded. This is done with a math.random function that was created. This only includes Pokemon entries that have sprites for every value I have chosen.
